Established in 2010 by Chief Executive Officer, Warren Ebert, SPG is a privately owned Australian company. Since then, SPG has experienced extraordinary growth, culminating in notable acquisitions such as the 'Casuarina Square' Shopping Centre (Darwin) in March 2022 for $418 million and 'Caneland Central' Shopping Centre (Mackay) in December 2022 for $280 million.

SPG has an enviable reputation with investors, financiers, and vendors, and it has a team that shares and celebrates SPG values.

SPG generates wealth for investors through strategic property acquisitions, hands-on retail and asset management, value-added opportunities, and a history of exceptional market performance with the consistent delivery of dependable monthly returns.

Distinguishing itself from most other property Fund Managers, SPG is fully integrated and leverages a comprehensive suite of in-house expertise across various teams, including Acquisitions, Development, Projects, Leasing, Property and Asset Management, Accounting and Finance, Legal, Marketing, Human Resources, and Investor Relations.

With an illustrious track record, SPG has delivered outstanding returns for investors, achieving an average Internal Rate of Return (IRR) of 20.31%. One of our noteworthy transactions involves the industrial facility at 69 Tingira St, Pinkenba QLD. Acquired in September 2017 for $48.5 million, the property was subsequently sold just five years later, in May 2022, for $88 million – yielding an IRR of 25.07% for investors. Additionally, the sale of Rutherford Homemaker Centre yielded an impressive IRR of 47%.
